

The Thinkery - "Everything is Interesting"

Tuesday, October 29th 7:30pm @ Grub and Groove

Ted Varani presents

Surveillance and Privacy, Crime and Security

Ever since humans opted to have fixed telephones and electricity wired into their houses they have opened themselves up to leaving an electronic trace of their behavior for others to see. In the last 10 years with the development of the Internet and mobile communication technology, the ability to monitor, watch and analyze our behavior and movements has grown exponentially. With the rapid advent of the Internet of things, we are now on the dawn of an age in which every motion is analyzed, and no physical objects may be what they seem. Much is said lately of the implications of governments harnessing this technology, but criminals, terrorists and hackers have shown themselves to be even earlier adopters than government and law enforcement. This talk will explore this new uncertain world, and how it may change our daily lives more rapidly than you think.
