This talk will discuss recent trends in FinTech. Technology-enabled trading and investing have democratized investment, leading to both opportunities and increasing challenges. With digital trading on the rise, partly aided by the global pandemic, lower barriers to entry and lack of investor expertise have led to increased risk.

Xu Fan is CEO of Greater China at Saxo Bank and an accomplished executive with over 20 years experience across multiple markets, especially in areas of financial modeling trading, risk management, and multiple-asset investment. Prior to Saxo Bank, he was Chief Investment Officer at CITIC Prudential Life Insurance and Head of Market Risk Management at China Everbright Bank. Fan holds a PhD in Atmospheric Sciences from Columbia University and did research at NASA after his PhD. He holds a BS in Earth and Space Sciences from University of Science and Technology of China.
