Philanthropy is more than just individual giving, but a sector with its ecosystem, key players, channels of a collaboration, and funding mechanisms. Wang Rui will discuss the growing influence of philanthropy in China, especially in the context of China's nonprofit sector where she cultivates partnerships with the private sector, NGOs, and government agencies.

Wang Rui is China Representative for GlobalGiving, which connects nonprofits, donors, and companies in nearly every country in the world, and a registered Overseas NGO based in Shanghai. She leads GlobalGiving's operation in China. With over 10 years in the philanthropic sector, she engages governments, charitable organizations, institutes, and private businesses on philanthropy in China. She has consulted for various international development agencies including UNDP and OECD on philanthropy and international development.

China Crossroads hosts talks on all topics related to China, including business, foreign policy, and other areas as they relate to China, the idea being that China is both already a "crossroads" of the world and itself at a "crossroads" in terms of its future global influence.
