Shen Yang does not legally exist. Born in Shandong as the second of four daughters, she is one of millions of “invisible children” who were forced to live in the shadows of society due to China’s one-child policy. She spent her entire childhood away from her family, suffering neglect and humiliation at the hands of her volatile relatives while taking on a new identity. More Than One Child: The Memoirs of an Illegal Daughter is a heartfelt and inspiring record of her upbringing as part of a hidden generation.

Shen Yang is author of More Than One Child: The Memoirs of an Illegal Daughter. Amidst a troubled childhood, she found solace in literature and graduated in Applied English. She has since completed a scriptwriting course at the Beijing Film Academy and now lives in Shanghai, where she is crafting her latest works.

China Crossroads hosts talks on all topics related to China, including business, foreign policy, and other areas as they relate to China, the idea being that China is both already a “crossroads” of the world and itself at a “crossroads” in terms of its future global influence.
