In January 2022, Beijing published its first-ever Five-Year Plan for Digital Economy Development, which boldly declared the ongoing digital transition to be on par with the agricultural and industrial revolutions. This talk will discuss China's efforts - both at the highest levels and deep down in the weeds - to dominate the so-called digital economy.

Tom Nunlist is a tech policy analyst at Trivium China. Before this, he was a political risk analyst at Hill and Associates. Tom has lived in Shanghai for nine years.

China Crossroads hosts talks on all topics related to China, including business, foreign policy, and other areas as they relate to China, the idea being that China is both already a “crossroads” of the world and itself at a “crossroads” in terms of its future global influence.
