

CHINA CROSSROADS

Tuesday, June 2nd, 2026, 19:30 – 21:00

US-China Relations after Trump's Visit: Where Do We Go from Here?

Ken Jarrett

Former American Consul General in Shanghai
Senior Advisor at Albright Stonebridge Group

Shao Yuqun

Senior Fellow at the Center for America Studies
Shanghai Institutes of International Studies (SIIS)

Supported by:
JunHe LLP
Shanghai

JunHe LLP | Taikoo Hui #1 26F | 288 Shimen Yi Lu
200rmb admission with drink | FREE for members
Scan to RSVP or email editor@shanghai-review.org

After the summit between Trump and Xi in China, it's not clear US-China relations have changed meaningfully other than in the short-term, which side has derived the greater advantage, or if the outcome has changed in light of the subsequent comments by Trump. Was President Trump's visit the start of a reset in US-China relations or just an extension of the current uneasy truce as both sides recognize the need for stability?

Kenneth Jarrett is a Senior Advisor with the Albright Stonebridge Group, a strategic advisory firm based in Washington, DC. He previously served as President of the American Chamber of Commerce in Shanghai from September 2013 to December 2018. Prior to that he was the Greater China Chairman for APCO Worldwide, a Washington-based public affairs consultancy from 2008 to 2013, and before that a U.S. diplomat from 1982 to 2008. During his 26-year diplomatic career, his postings included Consul General in Shanghai, Deputy Consul General in Hong Kong, and Director of Asian Affairs at the White House National Security Council. He also served in Beijing, Chengdu, Singapore, and had several assignments in Washington, DC. Mr. Jarrett has degrees from Cornell University, Yale University and the National War College. He is the recipient of the Magnolia Award (Silver) from the Shanghai government and is a member of the National Committee for US-China Relations.

Shao Yuqun is Director of the Institute for Taiwan, Hong Kong & Macao Studies and Senior Research Fellow at the Center for America Studies at Shanghai Institutes for International Studies (SIIS) She used to work as Deputy Director of the Department of American Studies and Director of the Department of Research Management & International Exchange at SIIS. Born in Shanghai, she earned her BA in Chinese Language and Literature, MA in International Chinese Studies at East China Normal University and Ph.D. in International Relations from Fudan University.

China Crossroads hosts talks on all topics related to China, including business, foreign policy, and other areas as they relate to China, the idea being that China is both already a "crossroads" of the world and itself at a "crossroads" in terms of its future global influence. For more information, contact Frank Tsai at editor@shanghai-review.org.